

The poor dog

Once there was a little dog called Harry Keane.

First the dog went outside to play. While was playing he saw a fox. The fox chased the dog. The dog ran on the road and got hit by a motorbike. The dog was injured and his owners brought him to the vet. The vet couldn't do anything for the dog, so he had to put him down. The owners were very sad. They went home crying.

They got a new dog and named him Rusty.

Camping 2

Once there was someone called Mark.

First he went camping in Specky Woods in the west of Ireland.

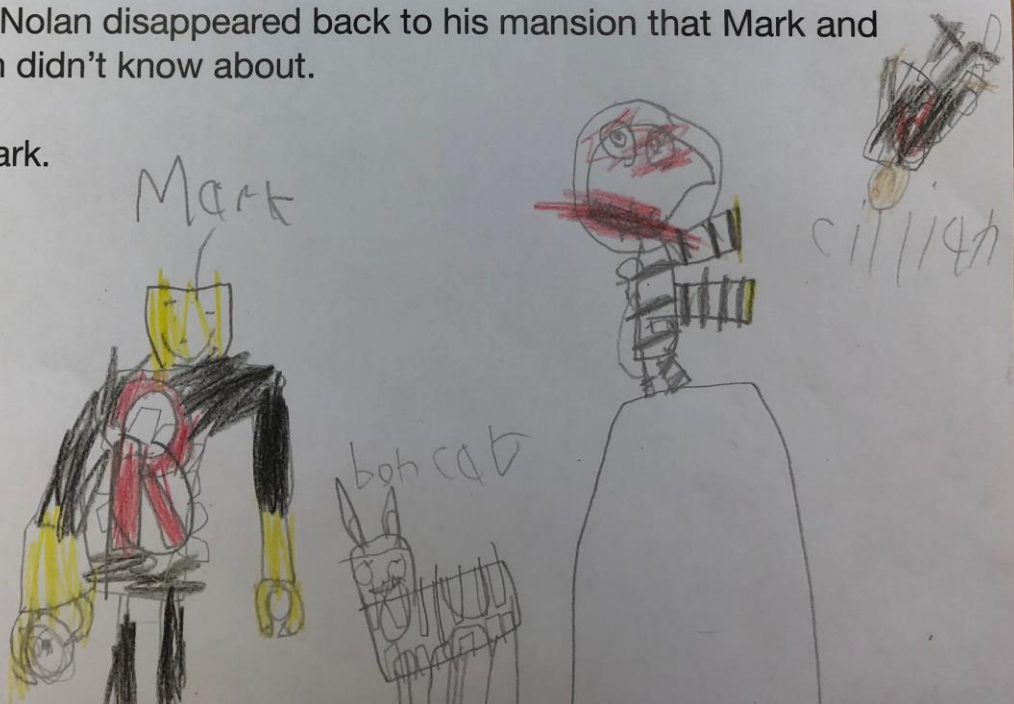

Then when night fell, he saw a man with white and black striped clothes and a white mask. Mark had some boost drinks that make you go fast. He ran up to a cabin with someone called Cillian. Then the man ran up to the cabin indow and tried shooting it with a gun. Then he peeped in the window and didn't break the window. Mark and Cillian ran down to the hole. They found a barrier to stand on when a flood came. Then the man ran up to the other barrier and then he tried shooting Mark and Cillian but they secretly took the gun and shot the man.

Then Cillian and Mark ran back to the cabin. They stayed in there with the door locked until the flood stopped.

When the flood stopped they saw the man's driving licence. It showed his name as Zack Nolan.

Zack Nolan disappeared back to his mansion that Mark and Cillian didn't know about.

The boxing match

Once upon a time there were two boys named Alan and Jamie. One day they took part in a boxing match. One round went by and I got Jamie down, and he stayed down. I helped Jamie up and my dad gave him a lift home. I went in the car with Jamie and my dad too.

We saw lots of animals and they were all running. My dad went to Jamie's house and we went in for a few minutes. My dad and Jamie's dad were talking. Jamie and I were talking too. We were talking about boxing. We said it was a good match. Then we had to go home, and I had to go to bed.

The next day I asked my dad and my mum could I go to Jamie's house. They said "yes." I went to Jamie's house on my bike. Then we were talking about when the next boxing match would be on. Jamie told me that we were going to England. We went to the airport and got on a plane. We had to stay in England for three days. While we were there, we had two boxing matches. We won our match.

Green and blue car race

Once upon a time there was a boy called Jamie. His friend Alan had a green car. Jamie had a blue car. Jamie and Alan were racing on the track. Alan nearly won but Jamie just got there before him.

Then Jamie won the trophy for winning the fastest car race. Alan was crying as he lost. Jamie was celebrating and he jumped on to a football pitch and slide-tackled everyone and didn't even get a red card. Alan got his green car and drove on to the pitch. Jamie jumped onto the top of the car and he was very happy that he jumped and then jumped off the other side.

Alan crashed his green car and flew out of it and straight over the highest stadium in the world. It was a skyscraper. He fell down into his green racing car and drove to another country.
